

Pool Plastering

Revolutionize Your Pool Plastering with BestSAFE™!

Discover a Safer, Smarter Way to Perfect Pool Surfaces!

The final phase in constructing a concrete pool is the resurfacing and replastering process, which not only enhances the pool's aesthetic appeal but also ensures a secure and watertight seal for lasting protection. The options for replastering are diverse, ranging from pebbled, quartz, granite, and river stones to glass and more.

Traditionally, muriatic acid has been employed to reveal aggregate or pebbled textures, despite its significant hazards such as corrosion, eye damage, and burns. It is essential to prioritize safety by using proper protective gear, as muriatic acid is classified as Hazardous Materials.

With BestSAFE™, you can eliminate the hazards associated to traditional muriatic acid and ensure a safer replastering experience exclusively designed for the Pool Industry!
